REWRITING SENTENCES

I. Proofreading for Subject-verb Agreement Errors – Paragraph

Circle the subjects and underline the verbs. Make an arrow from the verb to its subject. If the sentence has a subject-verb agreement error, cross out the incorrect verb and write the correct verb form above it.

The Beaver

The beaver, Canada's national animal, have some unusual characteristics. One unusual fact about beavers is their large size. The beaver is the largest rodent in North America, weighing from 13 to 35 kg. It spend a lot of time in the water, so its feet is large and webbed for swimming. The beaver's tail which is wide and flat like a paddle also helps it to swim. Thick underfur keep the beaver warm and dry, even in very cold water. In fact, beavers have been known to stay under water in icy ponds for as long as fifteen minutes. Beavers also has long teeth which grows all their lives. They use these powerful teeth to cut down trees which they use for food and shelter. Another unusual fact about the beaver is that it is one of the few animals that change its own environment. Beavers create ponds by building dams with roots, sticks, mud and stones. Each family of beavers build a lodge, or nest, in a riverbank or in the middle of a pond. They build an underwater entrance to the lodge. Having the entrance underwater protects them from their enemies. Beavers is also very social animals. They not only communicate with each other by making sounds with their mouths but also by slapping their big flat tails on the water. The beaver's social life is complex and focus around the female. These very special animals are found in every province in Canada.

14. Statements: All cars are cats. All fans are cats.

Conclusions: All cars are fans. Some fans are cars.

15. Statements: All smart are women. Some women are educated.

Conclusions: Some smart are educated. No smart are educated.

II) In the following questions, two statements are followed by four conclusions. Choose the best conclusions

1. Statements: No door is dog. All the dogs are cats. Conclusions: 1. No door is cat. 2. No cat is door.

3. Some cats are dogs. 4. All the cats are dogs.

A. Only (2) and (4)

B. Only (1) and (3)

C. Only (3) and (4)

D. Only (3)

E. All the four

2. Statements: All green are blue. All blue are white. Conclusions: 1. Some blue are green. 2. Some white are green. 3. Some green are not white. 4. All white are blue.

A. Only (1) and (2)

B. Only (1) and (3)

C. Only (1) and (4)

D. Only (2) and (4)

3. Statements: All men are vertebrates. Some mammals are vertebrates. Conclusions: 1. All men are mammals. 2. All mammals are men. 3. Some vertebrates are mammals. 4. All vertebrates are men.

A. Only (4)

B. Only (2)

C. Only (3)

D. Only (1)

E. Only (1) and (3)

4. Statements: All the phones are scales. All the scales are calculators. Conclusions: 1. All the calculators are scales 2. All the phones are calculators 3. All the scales are phones 4. Some calculators are phones.

A. Only (1) and (4)

B. Only (3) and (4)

C. Only (2) and (4)

D. Only (1) and (2)

E. Only (1) and (3)

5. Statements: Some cars are scooters. No scooter is cycle. Conclusions: 1. No car is cycle. 2. No scooter is car. 3. Some cars are cycles. 4. Some scooters are cars.

- A. None of the four.
- B. All the four.
- C. Only (1) and (4)
- D. Only (4)
- E. Only (2) and (4)

6. Statements: Some tables are T.V. Some T.V. are radios. Conclusions: 1. Some tables are radios. 2. Some radios are tables. 3. All the radios are T.V. 4. All the T.V. are tables.

- A. Only (2) and (4)
- B. Only (1) and (3)
- C. Only (4)
- D. Only (1) and (4)
- E. None of the four.

7. Statements: Some pens are books. Some books are pencils. Conclusions: 1. Some pens are pencils. 2. Some pencils are pens. 3. All pencils are pens. 4. All books are pens.

- A. Only (1) and (3)
- B. Only (2) and (4)
- C. All the four
- D. None of the four
- E. Only (1)

8. Statements: All the goats are tigers. All the tigers are lions. Conclusions: 1. All the goats are lions. 2. All the lions are goats. 3. Some lions are goats. 4. Some tigers are goats.

- A. All the four
- B. Only (1), (2) and (3)
- C. Only (1), (3) and (4)
- D. Only (2), (3) and (4)

9. Statements: All the books are pencils. No pencil is eraser. Conclusions: 1. All the pencils are books. 2. Some erasers are books. 3. No book is eraser. 4. Some books are erasers.

- A. Only (3)
- B. Only (1) and (3)
- C. Only (1) and (2)

- D. Only (2) and (3)
- E. Only (3) and (4)

10. Statements: All the research scholars are psychologists. Some psychologists are scientists.
Conclusions: 1. All the research scholars are scientists. 2. Some research scholars are scientists. 3. Some scientists are psychologists. 4. Some psychologists are research scholars.

- A. Only (3) and (4)
- B. None of the four
- C. All the four
- D. Only (3)
- E. Only (2) and (4)

III) Each question below has three or four statements, followed by conclusions. Assuming the statements to be true choose the best conclusion.

- 1. Statements: All machines are bad.
Some bad are globe.
All globes are round.

Conclusions: I. Some machines are round.
II. No machine is round.

- A. if only conclusion I is true.
- B. if only conclusion II is true.
- C. if either conclusion I or conclusion II is true.
- D. if neither conclusion I nor conclusion II is true

CIR
CORPORATE & INDUSTRY RELATIONS

- 2. Statements: All cotton are jute.
All jute are brown.
No brown is red.

Conclusions: I. All brown are cotton.
II. Some jute are cotton

- A. if only conclusion I is true.
- B. if only conclusion II is true.
- C. if either conclusion I or conclusion II is true.
- D. if neither conclusion I nor conclusion II is true

- 3. Statements: Some blue are black.
Some black are grey.
All grey are red.
All red are pink.

- Conclusions: I. Some red are black.
II. Some pink are black.
III. Some pink are grey.
IV. Some red are blue.

- A. Only I & II follow
B. Only II & III follow
C. Only I, II and III follow
D. All follow.

Directions (1-5): In each of the following questions two/three statements are given and these statements are followed by two conclusions numbered (1) and (2). You have to take the given statements to be true even if they seem to be at variance from commonly known facts. Read the conclusions and then decide which of the given conclusions logically follows from the two given statements, disregarding commonly known facts. Give answer:

- (1) If only (1) conclusion follows
(2) If only (2) conclusion follows
(3) If either (1) or (2) follows
(4) If neither (1) nor (2) follows
(5) If both (1) and (2) follow

1. Statements:

Some mobiles are pagers.
No mobile is a laptop.

Conclusions:

- I. No laptop is a pager.
II. Some pagers are definitely not mobiles

For (2-3):

Statements:

All tables are chairs.

All chairs are beds.

No bed is sofa.

2. Conclusions:

I. Some tables are definitely not beds.

II. No sofa is a table

3. Conclusions:

I. No chair is sofa.

II. Some tables being sofa is a possibility.

4. Statements:

No fan is a cooler.

Some coolers are heaters.

All tubes are fans.

Conclusions:

I. No heater is a tube.

II. All fans are tubes

5. Statements:

Some stones are shells.

All shells are pearls.

No stone is fish

Conclusions:

I. No fish is a shells.

II. All shells being fish is a possibility.

MODULE 6

LOGICAL ORDERING OF SENTENCES

I. Arrange the sentences/phrases in a logical order.

1. (p) and closed the door behind me (q) when Holmes pulled me abruptly into the room (r) with an apology for my intrusion, I was about to withdraw (s) and found him in deep conversation with a very stout, florid-faced, elderly gentleman with fiery red hair (t) I had called upon my friend, Mr. Sherlock Holmes, one day in the autumn of last year

MODULE 7

READING COMPREHENSION

I. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow:

When I was little, children were bought two kinds of ice cream, sold from those white wagons with canopies made of silvery metal: either the two-cent cone or the four-cent ice-cream pie. The two-cent cone was very small, in fact it could fit comfortably into a child's hand, and it was made by taking the ice cream from its container with a special scoop and piling it on the cone. Granny always suggested I eat only a part of the cone, then throw away the pointed end, because it had been touched by the vendor's hand (though that was the best part, nice and crunchy, and it was regularly eaten in secret, after a pretense of discarding it).

The four-cent pie was made by a special little machine, also silvery, which pressed two disks of sweet biscuit against a cylindrical section of ice cream. First you had to thrust your tongue into the gap between the biscuits until it touched the central nucleus of ice cream; then, gradually, you ate the whole thing, the biscuit surfaces softening as they became soaked in creamy nectar. Granny had no advice to give here: in theory the pies had been touched only by the machine; in practice, the vendor had held them in his hand while giving them to us, but it was impossible to isolate the contaminated area.

I was fascinated, however, by some of my peers, whose parents bought them not a four-cent pie but two two-cent cones. These privileged children advanced proudly with one cone in their right hand and one in their left; and expertly moving their head from side to side, they licked first one, then the other. This liturgy seemed to me so sumptuously enviable, that many times I asked to be allowed to celebrate it. In vain. My elders were inflexible: a four-cent ice, yes; but two two-cent ones, absolutely no.

As anyone can see, neither mathematics nor economy nor dietetics justified this refusal. Nor did hygiene, assuming that in due course the tips of both cones were discarded. The pathetic, and obviously mendacious, justification was that a boy concerned with turning his eyes from one cone to the other was more inclined to stumble over stones, steps, or cracks in the pavement. I dimly sensed that there was another secret justification, cruelly pedagogical, but I was unable to grasp it.

Today, citizen and victim of a consumer society, a civilization of excess and waste (which the society of the thirties was not), I realize that those dear and now departed elders were right. Two two-cent cones instead of one at four cents did not signify squandering, economically speaking, but symbolically they surely did. It was for this precise reason, that I yearned for them: because two ice creams suggested excess. And this was precisely why they were denied to me: because they looked indecent, an insult to poverty, a display of fictitious privilege, a boast of wealth. Only spoiled children ate two cones at once, those children who in fairy tales were rightly punished, as Pinocchio was when he rejected the skin and the stalk. And parents who encouraged this weakness, appropriate to little parvenus, were bringing up their children in the foolish theatre of "I'd like to but I can't." They were preparing them to turn up at tourist-class check-in with a fake Gucci bag bought from a street peddler on the beach at Rimini.

Nowadays the moralist risks seeming at odds with morality, in a world where the consumer civilization now wants even adults to be spoiled, and promises them always something more, from the wristwatch in the box of detergent to the bonus bangle sheathed, with the magazine it accompanies, in a plastic envelope. Like the parents of those ambidextrous gluttons I so envied, the consumer civilization pretends to give more, but actually gives, for four cents, what is worth four cents. You will throw away the old transistor radio to purchase the new one, that boasts an alarm clock as well, but some inexplicable defect in the mechanism will guarantee that the radio lasts only a year. The new cheap car will have leather seats, double side mirrors adjustable from inside, and a panelled dashboard, but it will not last nearly so long as the glorious old Fiat 500, which, even when it broke down, could be started again with a kick. The morality of the old days made Spartans of us all, while today's morality wants all of us to be Sybarites.

1. Which of the following cannot be inferred from the passage?

- a) Today's society is more extravagant than the society of the 1930s.
- b) The act of eating two ice cream cones is akin to a ceremonial process.
- c) Elders rightly suggested that a boy turning eyes from one cone to the other was more likely to fall.
- d) Despite seeming to promise more, the consumer civilization gives away exactly what the thing is worth.
- e) The consumer civilization attempts to spoil children and adults alike.

2. In the passage, the phrase "little parvenus" refers to

- a) naughty midgets.
- b) old hags.
- c) arrogant people.
- d) young upstarts.
- e) foolish kids.

3. The author pined for two two-cent cones instead of one four-cent pie because

- a) it made dietetic sense.
- b) it suggested intemperance.
- c) it was more fun.
- d) it had a visual appeal.
- e) he was a glutton.

4. What does the author mean by "nowadays the moralist risks seeming at odds with morality"?

- a) The moralists of yesterday have become immoral today.
- b) The concept of morality has changed over the years.
- c) Consumerism is amoral.
- d) The risks associated with immorality have gone up.
- e) The purist's view of morality is fast becoming popular

5. According to the author, the justification for refusal to let him eat two cones was plausibly

- a) didactic.
- b) dietetic.
- c) dialectic.
- d) diatonic.
- e) diastolic.

II. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow:

Without some form of censorship, propaganda in the strict sense of the word is impossible. In order to conduct a propaganda there must be some barrier between the public and the event. Access to the real environment must be limited, before anyone can create a pseudo-environment that he thinks wise or desirable. For while people who have direct access can misconceive what they see, no one else can decide how they shall misconceive it, unless he can decide where they shall look, and at what. The military censorship is the simplest form of barrier, but by no means the most important, because it is known to exist, and is therefore in certain measure agreed to and discounted.

At different times and for different subjects some men impose and other men accept a particular standard of secrecy. The frontier between what is concealed because publication is not, as we say, "compatible with the public interest" fades gradually into what is concealed because it is believed to be none of the public's business. The notion of what constitutes a person's private affairs is elastic. Thus the amount of a man's fortune is considered a private affair, and careful provision is made in the income tax law to keep it as private as possible. The sale of a piece of land is not private, but the price may be. Salaries are generally treated as more private than wages, incomes as more private than inheritances. A person's credit rating is given only a limited circulation. The profits of big corporations are more public than those of small firms. Certain kinds of conversation, between man and wife, lawyer and client, doctor and patient, priest and communicant, are privileged. Directors' meetings are generally private. So are many political conferences. Most of what is said at a cabinet meeting, or by an ambassador to the Secretary of State, or at private interviews, or dinner tables, is private. Many people regard the contract between employer and employee as private. There was a time when the affairs of all corporations were held to be as private as a man's theology is today. There was a time before that when his theology was held to be as public a matter as the color of his eyes. But infectious diseases, on the other hand, were once as private as the processes of a man's digestion. The history of the notion of privacy would be an entertaining tale. Sometimes the notions violently conflict, as they did when the bolsheviks published the secret treaties, or when Mr. Hughes investigated the life insurance companies, or when somebody's scandal exudes from the pages of Town Topics to the front pages of Mr. Hearst's newspapers. Whether the reasons for privacy are good or bad, the barriers exist. Privacy is insisted upon at all kinds of places in the area of what is called public affairs. It is often very illuminating, therefore, to ask yourself how you got at the facts on which you base your opinion. Who actually saw, heard, felt, counted, named the thing, about which you have an opinion? Was it the man who told you, or the man who told him, or someone still further removed? And how much was he permitted to see? When he informs you that France thinks this and that, what part of France did he watch? How was he able to watch it? Where was he when he watched it? What Frenchmen was he permitted to talk to, what newspapers did he read, and where did they learn what they say? You can ask yourself these questions, but you can rarely answer them. They will remind you, however, of the distance which often separates your public opinion from the event with which it deals. And the reminder is itself a protection.

1. Which of the following statements is true according to the passage?

- a) The decision about what should be public and what should be private about a man's life is decided by the Government of the country
- b) The author is of the view that it is better to not air one's opinion publicly
- c) Some people may think privacy is good, some others may think it is bad, but barriers to information exist for all
- d) All transactions related to real estate are kept private in today's world

2. What is the main point of the passage?

- a) Irrespective of whether it is good or bad, barriers to information exist. Therefore, one should be careful to not take everything at face value
- b) The idea of what constitutes a person's private life is an illusion created by the Government. This is an act of violation of the fundamental rights of the person
- c) The notion of what constitutes a person's or an organization's privacy is elastic. Irrespective of whether it is good or bad, barriers to information exist in all spheres of life
- d) The notion of what constitutes a person's private life is often intangible. History is replete with such examples

3. Which of the following statements about privacy would the author most agree with?

- a) A certain aspect of life that has seemingly unrestricted privacy, need not necessarily have such unrestricted privacy in the future
- b) It is not a good idea to have privacy in all spheres of public life
- c) The affairs of big corporates should not be private
- d) It is in the best interests of the citizens of the country that the Government imposes restrictions on privacy

4. Which of the following is a possible source of the passage?

- a) The article is most likely from a research paper on countries and their governments
- b) The article is most likely an extract from a book on Public Opinion
- c) The article is most likely from a blog post written by an ex-politician
- d) The article is most likely from a newspaper editorial

MODULE 8
CRITICAL REASONING

1. I do not need an alarm clock as my bedroom has a window to the east.

Which of the following is an assumption involved in the argument above?

- (A) I cannot sleep for more than twelve hours at a stretch.
- (B) I can wake up on my own.
- (C) I sleep at night.
- (D) The morning sunlight falls on my face because my bed stands next to the window.
- (E) The windows in my bedroom have sheer glass.

2. The peculiar evil of silencing the expression of an opinion is that it robs the human race. It takes from posterity, as well as the existing generation, and from those who dissent from the opinion even more than from those who hold it. If the opinion is right, they are deprived of the opportunity of exchanging error for truth; if it is wrong, they lose what is almost as great a benefit: the clearer perception and livelier impression of truth, produced by its collision with error.

Which one of the following best expresses the conclusion presented in the argument?

- (A) Silencing the expression of an opinion is robbing the human race.
- (B) Silencing the expression of an opinion harms those who dissent more than those who agree.
- (C) Anyone who agrees with an opinion would not want to silence its expression.
- (D) Gaining a clearer perception and livelier impression of truth is a great benefit.
- (E) The greatest benefit is the opportunity of exchanging truth for error.

3. Advertising by mail has become much less effective, with fewer consumers responding. Because consumers are increasingly overwhelmed by the sheer amount of junk mail they receive, most discard almost all offers without considering them. Thus, an effective way for corporations to improve response rates would be to more carefully target the individuals to whom they mail advertising, thereby cutting down on the amount of junk mail each consumer receives.

Which of the following, if true, would most support / strengthen this recommendation?

- (A) There are cost effective means by which corporations that currently advertise by mail could improve response rates.
- (B) Many successful corporations are already carefully targeting the individuals to whom they mail advertising.
- (C) Any consumer who, immediately after receiving an advertisement by mail, merely glances at it is very likely to discard it.
- (D) Improvements in the quality of the advertising materials used in mail that is carefully targeted to individuals can improve the response rate for such mail.

(E) Response rates to carefully targeted advertisements by mail are considerably higher, on average, than response rates to most other forms of advertising.

4. Sales of telephones have increased dramatically over the last year. In order to take advantage of this increase, Mammoth Industries plans to expand production of its own model of telephone, while continuing its already very extensive advertising of this product.

Weaken the argument: Which of the following, if true, provides most support for the view that Mammoth Industries cannot increase its sales of telephones by adopting the plan outlined above?

(A) Although it sells all of the telephones that it produces, Mammoth Industries' share of all telephone sales has declined over the last year.

(B) Mammoth Industries' average inventory of telephones awaiting shipment to retailers has declined slightly over the last year.

(C) Advertising has made the brand name of Mammoth Industries' telephones widely known, but few consumers know that Mammoth Industries owns this brand.

(D) Mammoth Industries' telephone is one of three brands of telephone that have together accounted for the bulk of the last year's increase in sales.

(E) Despite a slight decline in the retail price, sales of Mammoth Industries' telephones have fallen in the last year.

5. Many people choose listening to a particular kind of music that is compatible with the mental state they are in. However, studies have shown that people can report feeling happier and calm after listening to sad music. Nevertheless, it is uncalled for to conclude that sad music actually makes people happy. The studies also found that the people only felt positive emotions after listening to sad music when the purpose of listening to it was to release emotions. Contrarily, when the purpose of listening to such music was to recall memories, people felt even more morose after listening to sad music.

In the above argument, the two boldface portions play which of the following roles?

(A) The first is an observation that the argument accepts as true; the second is a belief that forms part of the support for the main conclusion of the argument.

(B) The first is evidence against the main conclusion of the argument; the second is an intermediate conclusion used to support the main conclusion of the argument.

(C) The first is evidence that is used to support a conclusion drawn in the argument; the second is part of the reasoning used to support another conclusion drawn in the argument.

(D) The first is an observation, an implication of which is disputed in the argument; the second is part of the reasoning used to support the position taken by the argument as a whole.

(E) The first is a belief that the argument does not dispute; the second is an observation that forms part of the support for the main conclusion of the argument

6. Studies have shown that a large percentage of car accidents are caused by aggressive driving. To help reduce the number of accidents and to promote traffic safety in general, insurance companies have begun to issue discounts to drivers who take defensive driving courses. Research shows that people who practice defensive driving are considerably less likely to get into a car accident. Therefore, the insurance company's plan should help reduce the number of accidents.

Assuming the statements above are true, which of the following can be inferred from them?

- A. The majority of accidents are caused by drivers who possess insurance.
- B. People who manage to consistently avoid car accidents are likely practicing defensive driving.
- C. Young males and other demographics known for disproportionately being involved in car accidents are less likely to practice defensive driving than other demographics.
- D. An individual who does not practice defensive driving is always more likely to get into a car accident than an individual who does practice defensive driving.
- E. Discounts are the most effective way for insurance companies to promote defensive driving.

7. Fact: Asthma, a bronchial condition, is much less common ailment than hay fever, an allergic inflammation of the nasal passages.

Fact: Over 95 percent of people who have asthma also suffer from hay fever.

If the information given as facts above is true, which of the following must also be true?

- (A) Hay fever is a prerequisite for the development of asthma.
- (B) Asthma is a prerequisite for the development of hay fever.
- (C) Those who have neither hay fever nor asthma comprise less than 5 percent of the total population.
- (D) The number of people who have both of these ailments is greater than the number of people who have only one of them.
- (E) The percentage of people suffering from hay fever who also have asthma is lower than 95 percent.

8. It is true of both men and women that those who marry as young adults live longer than those who never marry. This does not show that marriage causes people to live longer, since, as compared with other people of the same age, young adults who are about to get married have fewer of the unhealthy habits that can cause a person to have a shorter life, most notably smoking and immoderate drinking of alcohol.

Cause and effect: Which of the following, if true, most strengthens the argument above?

- (A) Marriage tends to cause people to engage less regularly in sports that involve risk of bodily harm.
- (B) A married person who has an unhealthy habit is more likely to give up that habit than a person with the same habit who is unmarried.
- (C) A person who smokes is much more likely than a nonsmoker to marry a person who smokes at the time of marriage, and the same is true for people who drink alcohol immoderately.
- (D) Among people who marry as young adults, most of those who give up an unhealthy habit after marriage do not resume the habit later in life.

(E) Among people who as young adults neither drink alcohol immoderately nor smoke, those who never marry live as long as those who marry.

9. A recent article in one of the nation's leading newspapers noted that despite the government's warning about peanut butter likely being contaminated by salmonella and the government's subsequent recall of a limited amount of peanut butter, 90% of grocery store shoppers surveyed said that they did not plan to change their peanut butter purchasing habits. Nevertheless, roughly two months after the limited recall and one month after the leading newspaper published its article, the country's peanut butter manufacturers reported that same-store sales to grocery store shoppers fell 75% year-over-year.

Which of the following, if true, best explains the apparent paradox above?

- A) The initial survey of shoppers failed to consider the effect of subsequent cuts in the price of peanut butter.
- B) Fearing additional instances of contamination and subsequent lawsuits, many retailers that sold peanut butter removed the product voluntarily from their shelves.
- C) A report similar to the report that appeared in the leading newspaper appeared in one of the nation's tabloid magazines on the same day.
- D) Days before the newspaper conducted its survey, a widely-respected bacterial research specialist published an op-ed article in a major newspaper arguing that the threat from salmonella-infected peanut butter was smaller than the government would later contend.
- E) A study published after the government recall of some peanut butter stated that individuals intended to change the type of jelly and bread they purchased.

10. Brunhilda: Economists have predicted that our generation will be the first that cannot confidently look forward to having a better standard of living than that enjoyed by our parents.

Siegfried: That's simply untrue. My father's standard of living is nowhere near as high as his parents' was, and my own standard of living is already higher than that of my parents.

Logical Flaw: Which of the following best describes the error of reasoning contained in Siegfried's argument above?

- A. It relies upon an unreasonable appeal to authority.
- B. It assumes the truth of what it sets out to prove.
- C. It offers an example that is not inconsistent with Brunhilda's argument.
- D. It is based on an unproven speculation about future events.
- E. It uses evidence of a correlation to argue the existence of a causal relationship.

11. John usually sorts incoming mail, such as bills and legal papers, into different folders according to various criteria. When he needs a specific document, John looks for it in the appropriate folder. However, if John mistakenly puts a letter into the wrong folder, he will not find it later when he looks in the appropriate folder. Jane hypothesizes that refraining from sorting the letters, but rather searching through all of them when necessary, would be more efficient.

Additional evidence: Which of the following investigations is most likely to yield significant information that would help evaluate Jane's hypothesis?

- A. Stopping the sorting, and seeing whether John is pleased with the new system
- B. Using each method for a month, and seeing which has more sorting errors
- C. Comparing the time it takes to sort the letters with the time it takes to find a misplaced letter
- D. Comparing the look-up time without sorting with the look-up time in case of a sorting error
- E. Comparing the time saved by having pre-sorted folders to the time wasted on sorting and on sorting errors

12. Beautiful beaches attract people, no doubt about it. Just look at this city's beautiful beaches, which are among the most overcrowded beaches in the state.

Which of the following exhibits a pattern of reasoning most similar to the one exhibited in the argument above?

- A. Moose and bear usually appear at the same drinking hole at the same time of day. Therefore, moose and bear must grow thirsty at about the same time.
- B. Children who are scolded severely tend to misbehave more often than other children. Hence if a child is not scolded severely that child is less likely to misbehave.
- C. This software program helps increase the work efficiency of its users. As a result, these users have more free time for other activities.
- D. During warm weather my dog suffers from fleas more so than during cooler weather. Therefore fleas must thrive in a warm environment.
- E. Pesticides are known to cause anaemia in some people. However, most anaemic people live in regions where pesticides are not commonly used.

13. George: Some scientists say that global warming will occur because people are releasing large amounts of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere by burning trees and fossil fuels. We can see, though, that the predicted warming is occurring already. In the middle of last winter, we had a month of spring like weather in our area, and this fall, because of unusually mild temperatures, the leaves on our town's trees were three weeks late in turning color.

Which one of the following would it be most relevant to investigate in evaluating the conclusion of George's argument?

- (A) whether carbon dioxide is the only cause of global warming

- (B) when leaves on the trees in the town usually change color
- (C) what proportion of global emissions of carbon dioxide is due to the burning of trees by humans
- (D) whether air pollution is causing some trees in the area to lose their leaves
- (E) whether unusually warm weather is occurring elsewhere on the globe more frequently than before

14. Individuals owed their existence to their parents; without whose countless sacrifices, they would never survive nor grow into sane human beings. They realized their potential in a stable and peaceful society, made possible by the efforts of thousands of anonymous men and women. They became rational, reflective and moral beings within a rich civilization created by scores of sages, saints, savants and scientists.

Which of the following best completes the passage ?

- A. Even a whole lifetime was not enough to pay back what they owed their parents, let alone all the others.
- B. In short, every human being owed his humanity to others and benefited from a world, to the creation of which, he had not contributed anything.
- C. Furthermore, their creditors were by their very nature unspecifiable
- D. To talk about 'repaying' the debts did not therefore make sense except in a clumsy and metaphorical way of describing one's response to unsolicited but indispensable gifts.
- E. The only thing he can do is to make his contributions for the future.

15. Hollywood restaurant is replacing some of its standard tables with tall tables and stools. The restaurant already fills every available seat during its operating hours, and the change in seating arrangements will not result in an increase in the restaurant's seating capacity. Nonetheless, the restaurant's management expects revenue to increase as a result of the seating change without any concurrent change in menu, prices, or operating hours.

Which of the following, if true, provides the best reason for the expectation?

- (A) One of the taller tables takes up less floor space than one of the standard tables.
- (B) Diners seated on stools typically do not linger over dinner as long as diners seated at standard tables.
- (C) Since the restaurant will replace only some of its standard tables, it can continue to accommodate customers who do not care for the taller tables.
- (D) Few diners are likely to avoid the restaurant because of the new seating arrangement.
- (E) The standard tables being replaced by tall tables would otherwise have to be replaced with new standard tables at a greater expense.

22. The crux of creativity resides in the ability to manufacture variations on a theme. If we look at the history of science, for instance, we see that every idea is built upon a thousand related ideas. Careful analysis leads us to understand that what we choose to call a new theme or a new discovery is itself always and without exception some sort of variation, on a deep level, of previous themes.

If all of the statements in the passage are true, each of the following must also be true EXCEPT:

- A. A lack of ability to manufacture a variation on a previous theme connotes a lack of creativity
- B. No scientific idea is entirely independent of all other ideas.
- C. Careful analysis of a specific variation can reveal previous themes of which it is a variation.
- D. All great scientific discoverers have been able to manufacture a variation on a theme.
- E. Some new scientific discoveries do not represent, on a deep level, a variation on previous themes.

23. Studies of fatal automobile accidents reveal that, in the majority of cases in which one occupant of an automobile is killed while another survives, it is the passenger, not the driver, who is killed. It is ironic that the innocent passenger should suffer for the driver's carelessness, while the driver often suffers only minor injuries or none at all.

Which of the following is an assumption underlying the reasoning in the passage above?

- A. In most fatal automobile accidents, the driver of a car in which an occupant is killed is at fault.
- B. Drivers of automobiles are rarely killed in auto accidents.
- C. Most deaths in fatal automobile accidents are suffered by occupants of cars rather than by pedestrians.
- D. Auto safety experts should increase their efforts to provide protection for those in the passenger seats of automobiles.
- E. Automobile passengers sometimes play a contributing role in causing auto accidents.

24. The editors of Business Today magazine conducted a poll of its readers regarding the proposed increase in the rate of income tax paid on profits from the sale of stocks. More than 60% of the readers opposed the proposed tax. The editors announced that the majority of Americans opposed any increase in the tax on profits from stock sales.

Which one of the following statements, if true, would most weaken the editor's conclusion?

- A. Some readers of Business Today magazine are citizens of countries other than the United States.

- B. Decisions concerning the income tax laws are made by the Congress rather than directly by the people.
- C. Most of those who earn profits from stock sales are wealthy and can afford to pay higher taxes.
- D. The viewpoints of the vast majority of the readers of Business Today magazine differ from the views of most Americans.
- E. Not all readers of Business Today magazine responded to the editors' poll.

25. Several movie versions of Charles Dickens' Tale of Two Cities have been made. The original movie version made in 1939 is the best because it is closest in spirit to the original novel. An underlying assumption of the argument above is that a movie based on a novel should:

- A. reflect the director's original interpretation of the main themes of the novel.
- B. accurately depict the time and place in which the novel is set.
- C. feature actors and actresses who closely resemble the characters in the novel both in body and spirit.
- D. faithfully render the details of the plot from the narrator's point of view.
- E. capture the true meaning and intention of the novel.
